New Faculty Members Are Named At Alabama College

President A. F. Harman of Alabama College this week announced the appointment of four new faculty members who will begin their service with the State College for Women when it re-opens September 2.

Dr. John B. Knox, of Elizabeth, N. J., succeeds Dr. Irwin T. Sanders as associate professor of sociology. Dr. Sanders has resigned to accept a faculty position at the University of Kentucky. A native of Kentucky, Dr. Knox received his academic degree at Davidson College where he achieved membership in Phi Beta Kappa. He received his master's degree from the University of North Carolina, and the Ph. D. from Harvard. At Harvard and Radcliffe he served as instructor while in the graduate school. Dr. Knox taught social relations and English at the American University, Beirut, Syria, from 1930-1932, and in 1937 was executive secretary of the Students International Union. His doctoral thesis was a statistical study of the occupations of Harvard graduates.

As technical director of the College Theatre, succeeding Jack W. Warfield, the college has employed John A. Walker of Manteo, N. C. Holding the master's degree in dramatic art from the University of North Carolina, Mr. Walker in 1937-38 was assistant technical director of the famous Carolina Playmakers on a Rockefeller fellowship. During the past year he taught theatre arts at Finch Junior College, New York City. For two years he was state director in North Carolina for the federal theatre project, and he has been intimately associated with Paul Green, Pulitzer prize-winning playwright, serving for the past four seasons as director of lighting for Green's "The Lost Colony," staged on Roanoke Island. Mr. Walker is also author of two original plays, both of which the Carolina Playmakers have produced.

Miss Loretta Skelly of Hinckley, Ill., succeeds Miss Margaret Flory as member of the speech department. Miss Skelly holds the M. A. degree from L. S. U., where she has also done work toward her Ph. D. She is a member of Kappa Delta Pi, Pi Kappa Delta, and Zeta Phi Eta, the national professional speech fraternity.

Joseph Merino, 399 Montevallo Road, Birmingham, will serve as instructor of art, replacing Miss Margaret Cuninggim, who has been granted a leave of one year. Mr. Merino is one of Alabama's most successful young artists.

Other additions to the college faculty and staff include Miss Birdie Margaret Mooror, of Georgiana, assistant librarian; and Miss Celia Methvin, of Roanoke, secretary of vocational home economics. Both are graduates of Alabama College.

Town Forum Begins Attack On Problems

Fly and Mosquito Control, Recreation and Beautification Are Chosen As The First Projects

At the second meeting of the Montevallo Town Forum held at the Baptist Church Thursday, July 25, leading citizens began an attack on three large problems, health, recreation, and town beautification.

Sanitary Engineer Pruitt, of Columbiana, explained some of the processes by which our town could begin to control mosquitoes and flies. The Forum moved that the Town Council request the County Health Department to make a sanitary survey of Montevallo. This survey will cost Montevallo nothing and will place the town under no obligations.

The Forum went on record as wishing to begin work immediately on the task of finding ways of improving the appearance of curb strips and vacant lots. An immediate attack on the problem of arranging some inexpensive recreation opportunities was also recommended. Committees to outline democratic methods of beginning these tasks were appointed. These committees will meet and begin work the latter part of this week and the beginning of next week.

The executive council of the Forum wishes to invite all citizens of Montevallo to offer suggestions and criticisms that will aid the work outlined.

Standing Committees

Committees appointed follow:

Community Health Committee—Mrs. E. P. Hood, Dr. Hallie Farmer, Mrs. J. P. Kelly, Dr. F. B. Pearson, one high school student to be appointed.

Committee on Civic Improvement—Dr. A. W. Vaughan, Dr. C. T. Acker, Mrs. J. A. Brown, Mr. Joe Klotzman, one high school student to be appointed.

Here's That Whopper

We promised you folks a whopper last week and here it is. The Boss is back and this is his story. He says he was coming in from his fishing tour and was entering the pass when he got the one he has been fishing for during the past ten years, a 30-pound cavalla. Mr. Wyatt reports that he struck and pulled the rod alongside the boat and ripped off one of the line guides. In relating the tale, he says, "You know I'd as soon try to hold a bull yearling by the tail as to try to drag that fish in." (Just between you and me, I believe he rather enjoyed it.)

The fish was landed after a 30-minute fight which, Mr. Wyatt assures us, was really a good fight for any fish to put up. His last comment was, "I think I'll try again and get his twin." So don't be surprised.

Can We Have Peace In Time of War?

Rev. T. M. Davis, Pastor
Montevallo Presbyterian Church

"And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus."—Philippians 4:7.

Can that be true when three-fourths of the people of the earth are involved in the deadliest war that has ever cursed mankind? When our own country is characterized by war nerves and the greater part of the population is jittery? When ruthlessness threatens to triumph and righteousness be defeated? When the air is filled with doubts and questionings? When faith, hope and love no longer seem to be things that abide? When the very nature and goodness of God are doubted by the faithful because a wickedness is not confounded and righteousness exalted, and the irreligious and cynical point with an ironical finger at such human horror and chaos and flout, "Where is now your God?" Is He wholly unconcerned with the passing scene or impotent to do anything about such a ghastly calamity? Religious people who like to believe in a good God and Christian people who believe in a Christ-like God are vitally concerned that He is interested in this tragedy and is grieved that man should so dissipate and misuse his energies to produce the calamity we are witnessing.

To begin with, then, let us return to the original question, "Can there be such a thing as peace in time of war?" Of course, we are all interested and concerned about the position of our own country in this time of stress and strain and pray that it will not become involved in the slaughter that has become such a common-place thing. The attitudes and thinking of people in a time like this have a great deal to do with a country's position and welfare. The expressions of leaders in national life are not kept in a corner but reverberate throughout the world. The press, the radio, the guarded, and unguarded statements of people in the common walks of life all contribute to molding public opinion. With many conflicting voices that are speaking (many of them with the sole intention of deceiving and misrepresenting the truth) with the witch hunting and hysteria caused by the "Fifth Columnist" movement, it is extremely difficult to know what to listen to. In such a time ears of all people are attuned to more different voices than ever before, except in those countries where only certain voices are to be heard. In this country where there is freedom of speech and press no voices are barred, but this likewise has its effect and tensions are still caused. Since the invasion of the lowlands by Germany doctors of the country tell us that there has been a tremendous increase of nervous indigestion and other disorders caused by nervous tension. This is also an angle which should interest us, notwithstanding the concern we have lest we become involved in actual combat. There are also "Fifth Columnists" in the spiritual world. Paul said, "We wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places." There is, therefore, a need for the armor of God to guard against that sort of invasion that can sap a people of its spiritual values and common sense. That is the kind of thing that confronts the people of our country even more immediately than a blitzkrieg of bombers and tanks. There is not much chance of a cessation of hostilities in this field if we are to listen to all the other voices and never once remember that there is a still small voice of God that yet speaks to people. For two thousand years Christianity has borne testimony to the great truths that are being threatened and denied today. It behooves us, then, to give at least a slight consideration to this angle.

Christ long ago saw the universal longing of the human heart when he said, "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." We are all seeking peace and rest in some form or other, and Christ saw the secret of our misery in our desperate effort to find peace in the things that can never give it. That is why he was constantly cautioning us against the world and asserting over and over again the impossibility of serving God and Mammon. He well knew that left to ourselves we would spend our money for that which satisfies not. "My peace," He says, "I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you." His is a peace that passeth all understanding and that is the kind of peace Paul was speaking about when he wrote to the Philippians long ago saying, "Be not anxious, but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God, and the peace of God which passeth all understanding shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus." It naturally transcends the knowledge of the man who has no contact with the spiritual world because his experience naturally lies in a different sphere. The things of the spirit are foolishness unto him and he cannot understand for they are spiritually discerned. But this peace also transcends the understanding of the godly man as well as the ungodly when the light breaks in upon his darkness. When God has given such a peace as this he has done "exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think." Surely that should be the sincere desire of every Christian and for it there is no substitute. There was a substitute offered in Paul's day. One of the great pagan philosophers, Seneca, was at that time at the height of his power, offering to the world a peace strangely like that of Christ, but it was a peace merely on the human scale.

We have seen peace on the human scale fail so desperately. In Paul's day there was peace outwardly. The great empire of the Caesars had been built up by one sweeping victory after another and even now they were holding sway over that vast territory and every small nation that dared raise its head in opposition was immediately and effectively put down. But how much peace was there? People were at odds with themselves. In the heart of thousands of Jews in Palestine and elsewhere there was the seething desire to rise up and throw off the yoke of the mighty Caesars. That was not a lasting peace but one that would explode one day, leaving the pomp of that great empire only a memoir on the pages of history.

The peace of 1918 now has about it a metallic sound, cold and hollow and through these empty halls we have heard even greater and more deadly explosions than ever before. Through these decades men only talked of peace and straightway prepared for war, taking meticulous care that this one should be more deadly and conclusive than any other. And now in these days the people of America must ask the question can there be peace for us in time of war? Or must we depend wholly on throwing all the vast resources of our country into the making of war materials and temporarily abandoning great spiritual values we would like to preserve. We are not debating the issue of the national defense program, but we are saying we are in danger of forgetting our moral and spiritual armor. If there is peace for harrassed individuals and for a nation, then in the name of Christianity and all that is right and just and decent let's try to find it!

What are some of the ways to attain this peace? Let us first see what the Apostle Paul says in the local setting of the text. "Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue and if there be any praise, think on these things. Those things which you have both learned, and received and heard, and seen in me do: and the God of peace will be with you." That is putting it succinctly and concretely. Surely when our thoughts and actions are so controlled by the things which are of the highest moral and spiritual values, the God of Peace will be with us. Take a hasty glance over the world situation and see how many of the things mentioned above are being denied outright without apology. Are men thinking of the things that are true? Rather they are distorting truth so that in many places where truth should be found falsehood has dethroned it. What about justice? Are men trying to put that into effect? There is nothing just in war! And purity? The very atmosphere is polluted with the bodies of the victims of ruthless war and the highest spiritual values have been displaced by the villainess of man's distorted nature. The lovely has no place in such a blitzkrieg world where beauty, love and art are being destroyed in the most meticulous and systematic way that it ever has. And whatsoever things are of good report? There is nothing good in a war communique which tells the world that thousands of refugee women and children have been blown asunder by bombs.

That, of course, applies more to the forces that are rampant abroad, but that does not mean that our hands are clean and that we have not violated any of the great virtues mentioned. We are not noted for doing the things that have been taught us through the Christian religion, and we are not being taken as a model nation by any means and not many other nations are lavishing a great deal of love on us. We need to guard against such statements as the one uttered by an English clergyman the first Sunday the war broke out. He declared that Hitler "will find that he has not only England and France to reckon with but our Lord as well." All that is very true, but when the same clergyman goes on to say, "Great Britain did not draw the sword for any material gain but simply to preserve the doctrines of Christianity," then we must part ways with the brother, for we may be very sure that the material end is not lost sight of, and we may be assured that our own country has been interested in more than making the world safe for democracy. We must not so distort the teachings of Christianity, making it barbaric enough to camouflage anything we want to do in its name. Hitler speaks glibly of God and assures his people that God is on their side, but in spite of that when he returns to his mountain retreat, where he claims to be so often in contact with the spirit world, he has to have a court jester to get his mind off the ghastly scenes he has witnessed at the battle front. His kind of god doesn't seem to give him any peace, but he must look to the jester to divert his mind. We must then, be very careful not to allow our Christian religion to degenerate into that sort of rot!

Another thing we must guard against is that we don't accuse God of being responsible for the mess we are in and ask where is His Justice. It is true that God is sovereign, but He also created man a free moral being with ability to choose. We will not stop to debate the theological paradox of this, but only recognize it here as a truth. In that light, then, we can see that He is just and that his laws are being worked out in the world. Look how the nations of the earth have sinned! This has not been just occasionally or thoughtlessly, but our devices for justifiable selfishness has been worked out with the greatest care. What can we expect in a world that has glorified greed, excused exploitation, and violated every law of justice known to man! We cannot expect to plant thorns and gather apples! Surely such things must be the tragic result in a world where we expect laws to be worked out. It is not a war that was started overnight or at any one particular geographical point. It is deeply rooted in the evil desires and greeds of men for years past. And to ask to God to stop it overnight is indeed asking a lot of God! "Whence come wars and fighting among you," asks James, "come they not hence, even of your lusts that war in your members? Ye lust and have not: ye kill, and desire to have, and cannot obtain: ye fight and war, yet you have not because you ask not." It is going to take a lot of confessing of wrongs and a lot of asking of God to heal wounds so deep. But be not too anxious about it, "but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving, let your requests be made known to God."

That means that we must not let our hates get the best of us and allow our emotions and fears to drive us into hysteria. Our vision is strangely dimmed when hatred is uppermost in our thinking and the hater is injured more than the hated. We tend to lose sight of our own weaknesses and develop a sense of self-righteousness. We cannot afford to dissipate our energies and our time on our hatreds, but we must rather get a firmer grasp on the Christian virtues. The provisional committee of the World Council of Churches made a great statement when it said, "It is not the vocation of the Church to put forward detailed political programs for immediate application, but to create and foster a sense of Christian values, to lay down general principles, and to uphold the efforts of Christian men and women to maintain the Christian standard in public life." These things do, and the God of Peace will be with us.

Progress Made By B.P.W. Relief Fund

The Montevallo Business and Professional Women's Club held its regular meeting on the lawn at the college infirmary, where a picnic supper was enjoyed by a large group of members.

After an abundance of the season's delicacies had been put to rest, the president, Mrs. Ashley Jeter, called the business session to order. The committee on collection of funds for the European war relief reported that a total of $586.65 had already been sent in. This amount represents approximately $61.50 from Aldrich, $25.00 from Calera, $10.00 from Wilton, $70.00 from Boothton, and $420.15 from Alabama College and Montevallo.

Dr. Anne L. Eastman reported on the last meeting of the Town Forum, urging the members of the club to affiliate themselves with this movement at once.

The meeting was adjourned after a detailed and interesting report by Dr. Minnie L. Steckel, president of the Alabama Federation. Dr. Steckel has recently returned from the annual meeting of the board of directors of the national federation held July 7-11 at Asheville, N. C.

Wilton Boy Scouts

The Wilton Scouts attended Camp Lake Harris for five days. The boys did their own cooking and carried tents to sleep in. At a previous meeting the Scouts christened their boat the "Suzy Q." The Suzy Q was kept busy most of the time going back and forth across the lake.

This was the first Council camp the Wilton troop has attended and they enjoyed it very much.

Montevallo Scouts At Camp Lake Harris

Early on the morning of July 21, ten Boy Scouts piled into two waiting cars and left Montevallo with their truck load of equipment for Camp Lake Harris, located near Tuscaloosa. The boys were able, by the generosity of Mr. Wooten, to pack the truck on the preceding night so all was in readiness for the big trek.

Sunday night found ten weary but happy boys ready for their beds on the ground. Camp was well started; the four tents were pitched, the table had been completed, and the water derrick had been built. Every boy went to sleep with a feeling of satisfaction that Montevallo had been the first troop of the Black Warrior Council to arrive at Camp Lake Harris. Yes, Montevallo started the ball to rolling.

During the succeeding days these ten boys found out what real camp life is like. John Shores and Pat Wyatt turned out to be excellent cooks — for they cooked their own breakfasts; and Stoddard Waller with E. G. Smitherman found out the trouble "just washing dishes" is. Bill Hartley, Robert Edward Lyman, and Paul McCrary of Centreville also found out that it really took work to provide enough fires for the troop. Through all these toils and tribulations, though, Edward "Bubber" Davis and James "Speedy" Farlow skillfully guided the boys in their patrols. Each boy seemed to realize that his best was needed. This was so true that all through the camp Mr. Hogan and many other staff members cited the Montevallo troop as having the best spirit of any troop in camp.

Troop 59's week was very varied. They had real experts to instruct them in the ways of good boating and swimming; they had excellent guidance in handicraft work as well as in nature work. The reptile study expert particularly attracted the attention of these boys.

The Scouts from Montevallo now feel that they are fully qualified as Frank Buck's assistants. If you are interested in this matter, just ask one of the boys about the hike to Lock 13 and the timber rattler that was killed while in progress.

Sunday morning, July 28, came and not a boy was ready to leave. However, they all pitched in with a will and helped transport the equipment to Mr. White's truck under the skillful guidance of Quartermaster "Foots" Parnell. Mr. Lewis, Tuscaloosa sanitation officer, left all of Troop 59 and their Scoutmasters, Dr. W. D. Jackson and Donald Vaughan, feeling good by saying that Montevallo and Troop 2 of Tuscaloosa ran neck and neck for the lead in having the best and cleanest camp.

Troop 59 of the Black Warrior Council wishes to thank the following persons for their much needed help: Mr. L. W. Wooten, Mr. John Stephens, Mr. Earl McGaughey, Mr. Stanley White, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Smitherman, Miss Edith Hartley, and Mr. Sam Hartley.

A particularly gratifying compliment was that of Mr. Simpson, regional camping inspector, who named Camp Lake Harris as the camp that most nearly met the requirements of true Scout camping of the 24 he had visited.

Gains in efficiency, reduction in weight, use of rubber tires, and more power to the gallon of fuel are the outstanding features of tractor improvement in the last 20 years.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Dr. Pearson will preach at the morning and evening services next Sunday at the Baptist Church.

The United States farm mortgage debt, in the fall of 1939, was the smallest in 20 years.

ANALYSIS SHOWS UNPREPAREDNESS OF AMERICA IN WORLD AT WAR

LIGHTNING war in the Low Countries and France has brought home to Americans a consciousness of the inadequate defense establishment of the United States. While 30,000,000 men are under arms in Europe, Africa and Asia, there are less than 750,000 regular troops in the twenty-one republics of the entire Western Hemisphere. Counting reserves and U. S. National Guard, these nations could put into the field approximately 2,500,000 trained men—less than the number recently called to the colors in Rumania alone.

BECAUSE of this weakness, the Western Hemisphere, with its vast natural resources and raw materials, now is as great a lure for conquest as ever existed. With our Navy in the Pacific, the British Fleet is our first line of defense in the Atlantic. Our second is our regular army of 264,000 men and a National Guard of 242,300, ill-equipped for mechanical warfare. How long can we continue to depend on the supremacy of the British Navy in the Atlantic?

PROVISIONS for the speedy expansion of our armed forces on a scale great enough to insure the continued safety of the nation are included in the selective compulsory training and service bill introduced in the Senate by Senator Edward R. Burke, Democrat, of Nebraska, and in the House by Representative James W. Wadsworth, Republican, of New York. Under this measure, sponsored by the National Emergency Committee of the Military Training Camps Association, a gigantic reservoir of manpower would be trained and be on call for service in emergencies, in numbers determined by the President and the Secretaries of War and Navy.

Farm Security Office Is Now Receiving Applications To Buy Tenant Farms

We have been notified by James N. Dennis, county RR supervisor, Farm Security Administration, that his office is now accepting applications to buy farms under the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act.

It is very important that all tenants, sharecroppers and farm laborers who are interested in being considered for one of these loans should file application in the near future. Forms and applications may be secured at the FSA office in the old court house on the second floor, at Columbiana.

Seven loans were approved in Shelby County for the fiscal year 1939-40 for approximately $21,000. This amount includes the option price and necessary repairs and improvements. An appropriation has already been made for buying more farms this year (July 1, 1940, to June 30, 1941).

Each application received is given careful consideration by a committee of three Shelby County farming who are themselves former tenant farmers. The loans made under this program are made over a 40-year period at 3 per cent interest, says Supervisor Dennis.

No land is approved for purchase, he said, where the probable income as determined by the farm and home plans, carefully worked out with each farmer, does not provide a sufficient margin, good living and loan repayment requirements to justify an adequate dwelling and other buildings. In most cases, he pointed out, the annual payments, including interest and insurance, are less than usual rentals for farms with good land and good buildings.

All services of the Rural Rehabilitation Program of the Farm Security Administration are made available to tenant purchase farmers, who, through ownership are enabled to plan operations on a long-range basis.

THREE-POINT Landing

A FLASHING plane swoops down from the sky, levels out and lands, with the two front wheels and the tail wheel touching the ground simultaneously for a perfect three-point landing.

The beer industry's "clean up or close up" program likewise calls for perfect cooperation at these three points—the Alabama ABC Board, the beer industry, and the public.

You, the public, can give your necessary cooperation by restricting your patronage to law-abiding retail beer dealers, by reporting any disorderly outlet to our Committee, and by not asking beer dealers to violate the ABC laws.

Short Money-Crop Expected In County

We have every indication that there will be a short money-crop in Shelby County and the low price that we may expect from cotton makes it vitally important that the farmers provide food needs by growing a good fall garden.

The AAA compliance has just made its first check on the home garden. Most gardens passed the first inspection, but will your garden pass the second inspection which will be in September or October?

The next few weeks is the critical time for the home garden. The early spring crop will be gone and more crops need to be planned. It is also necessary to control insects and diseases as there is already a heavy infestation. Select at least one-half acre of good soil, preferable heavy, moist soil, as a fall garden requires a large amount of moisture. It will help most vegetables if 200 pounds of lime or 200 pounds of basic slag is broadcast before turning. Plow and harrow this land so as to establish a good seed bed. Fall gardens do not require as much fertilizer as a spring garden. Four hundred pounds of fertilizer of a mixture such as 4-8-4 or 4-10-7 should be used. After the first rain get your seed into the ground.

Fall Irish potatoes is a very important food crop for the Alabama farm family. We must regard it as such. The fall crop of Irish potatoes should be planted in July or early August, using home grown Triumphs or the Rose Four varieties. There may be trouble breaking the rest period on the potatoes so that there will be a good stand. This may be done by changing the temperature and humidity. Should you have your potatoes stored under a house where it is dark, move them to a well lighted place that has a higher temperature than the place where previously stored, or vice versa. One pint of ethylene chlorohydrine used with enough water to dip 8 or 10 bushels of potatoes will break the rest period and insure a good stand. Potatoes should be dipped in this solution at night and planted the following morning. Fertilize the fall potatoes with 800 to 1,000 pounds of 4-10-7 fertilizer.

Tomatoes planted at this time of the year will serve a good fall crop of tomatoes. Immediately preceding the first frost, remove the vines from the garden and hang in a cool, moist storage space and allow the tomatoes to ripen. A number of farmers last year had fresh tomatoes at Christmas time. A number of other crops such as rutabagas, onions, turnips, cabbage, etc., can be stored for winter use in every Shelby County home.

Crops that need planting now are bunch snap beans, pole snap beans, bunch lima beans, cabbage, collards, kale, mustard, turnips, rutabagas, onions, Irish potatoes, beets, and radishes.

L. H. Ellis Explains Motor Carrier Act

To the Editor of The Montevallo Times:

Many inquiries have been made concerning the Alabama Motor Carrier Act of 1939, and especially as to licenses and mileage tax thereunder. If you will, therefore, kindly print this statement, it will be of interest, I am sure, to a great many people throughout the county.

Under the act of another legislature motor vehicles used in hauling logs, lumber, coal, poles, cotton, fertilizer, and practically everything else, were subject to a mileage tax. This was not strictly enforced, however, as to all these activities until the latter part of 1938 or the early part of 1939, during which time many arrests were made and many cases were preferred for not paying the mileage tax.

When the Motor Carrier Act of 1939 was introduced, I was successful in writing into it an amendment which provides that the act would not apply to school buses or other motor vehicles owned by County Boards of Education, or persons under contract with such boards, or to motor vehicles used by a person in transporting his own property for sale, or to motor vehicles engaged in hauling milk, livestock, coal, logs, lumber, poles, pulpwood, cotton in bales or cotton seed, for a distance of not exceeding seventy-five miles, or fertilizer when being hauled directly to a farm, for a distance of not exceeding one hundred and fifty miles, or to trucks hauling road materials and paid by the State of Alabama, for a distance of not exceeding twenty-five miles.

The passage of this act eliminated the mileage tax and, while this is true, yet some classes of those above named will have to procure a permit from the Public Service Commission, under reasonable rules to be adopted by the commission, which permits, however, are to be furnished without cost, upon proper application.—Respectfully, L. H. Ellis.

"All Men Should Be Conscripted— for THIS"

THAT'S what a customer told one of our representatives a few days ago, when he happened to visit her home to inquire about her electric service.

"That would be fine," he agreed, "because then electric washing machines would sell like hot cakes. Every conscript to the washboard and tub would begin immediately to save his nickels for the small down payment on an electric washing machine."

"How about your husband? Would you conscript him too?"

"You bet," agreed the tired woman.

"Let's conscript him," said the representative, who was acquainted with the husband.

Imagine her surprise, one evening a few days later, to observe her husband get out the scrub-board and tub, place some laundry, hot water and soap in it, and begin washing the clothes. (He made an awful mess!)

He held out about ten minutes. Then he said—well, we can't tell you what he said in an advertisement, but you can guess. He concluded his %c@/# remarks with:

"You and that electrical fellow win—go down to the store tomorrow and get yourself the kind of an electric washing machine you want!"

Grant-of-Aid Is Offered Shelby County Farmers

Full Advantage of Grant Was Not Taken by Local Farmers During Last Year

The Agricultural Adjustment Administration is offering the farmers of Shelby County a grant-of-aid through which seed and fertilizers may be obtained to plant their winter legume crops. In 1939 Shelby County was allotted $41,000 for soil building practices. Of this amount only $29,000 was taken up. Over $12,000 that could have been used to a good advantage in planting winter legumes was passed up and no one was able to use it.

It is very important that we take advantage of this program and build our land in order to produce crops economically and profitably.

Austrian peas are priced at $4.85 per 100 pounds, ground limestone at $3.25 per ton (in 100 pound sacks) and 20 per cent superphosphate at $14.60 per ton. The money to pay for these seed and fertilizers will be deducted from the Class II payment (payment on soil building practices) and will not be taken from the cotton payment.

See your community committee or come to the County Agent's office within the next week and fill out your application for seed or fertilizer.

Below is a list of the community committee: L. J. Embry, Calcis; Orin Pearson, Shelby; James A. Farley, Leeds Rt. 1; B. L. Lucas, Montevallo; W. A. James, Newala; W. E. Finley, Shelby; Carl T. The Methodist Missionary Society held the last Bible study of the year Monday afternoon, August 5, at the home of Mrs. J. Alex Moore. After the lesson which was taught by Mrs. Moore the group gave her a surprise birthday party. A lovely gift was presented to Mrs. Moore by the members of the society. A delicious ice course with cake was served to the following members: Mesdames J. M. Shores, Kate Cook, R. Villadsen, Harmon, W. M. Carr, J. Alex Moore, W. D. Jackson, H. K. Barr, Ida Hendricks, J. P. Doyle, C. H. Mahaffey, L. C. Parnell, H. E. Latham, S. B. Brown, J. A. Brown, Billy Smith, C. Martin, George DeShazo, O. B. Cooper, Lena Duran, J. P. Kelly, Nannie Robson, W. P. McCaughy.

Keeping Accurate Records Helps Farmers Toward Better Farming Practices

Farmers, farm wives, and farm youths now keep accurate records of their farming activities, says Mary E. Bishop, home management supervisor of the Farm Security Administration in Shelby County.

"In the past the farmers have shied off from keeping records, but last year many kept them for the first time and found them very useful," said Miss Bishop. "Some of the farmers thought they were keeping them for the FSA, but when they learned that the record books were for their own use to show them where they were making money or spending it unwisely, their interest quickened."

"Many of them were surprised to learn that their sales of vegetables, outside work, livestock products, and

RETURN TO STANDARD TIME

Mayor Charles T. Acker announces in behalf of the Town of Montevallo and Alabama College that both town and College will resume Standard Time at midnight on August 31.

Auto Dealers Move To New Locations

The shuffle which was started some months ago among the automobile dealers of Montevallo has been completed, and now all three of them are permanently located and ready to do business.

The hunt for new places was started when Mr. Webb, representing the Rogers interests of Marion, came here and bought the building occupied by Wooten Motor Company, Ford dealers, in which to open up the Montevallo Chevrolet Company.

This started Wooten to looking for another place for his Ford business, and he completed negotiations for the building which was occupied by Towery Motor Company.

When Towery started out for a new place he landed in the wide open spaces of Wilson Addition across the creek, took over the remnants of the old cotton mill building, and built an automobile place as big as all out of doors.

No doubt it has been somewhat inconvenient for these business concerns to carry on under the conflicting conditions incident to the impending changes. But now that it is all done, they are each and every one better situated to do business than before. And it has added the Chevrolet business of Mr. Webb and his associates to our community, which is a welcome asset. It has meant the building of the new place by Towery in a fast growing section of our town, which, in itself, is a mark of progress.

Now if somebody would shuffle up the deck again and shake out a few nice little houses that would rent at a price within reach of poor folks, that would also be a most advantageous step for Montevallo.

DORRIS SWANZY BENNETT

Mrs. Dorris Swanzy Bennett, age 30, of Tarrant City, passed away at her residence Saturday morning. She is survived by her husband, W. W. Bennett; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Swanzy, and one brother, Maurice, all of Wilton; three sisters, Miss Rosalind Swanzy of Anniston; Mrs. Arthur Gambrell of Talladega; and Miss Mary Alice Swanzy of Los Angeles, California.

The funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Oxford, with Rev. Sam Hall officiating. Interment was in Harmony Cemetery, Luquire directing.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rogan spent Tuesday in Selma.

Miss Grace Elizabeth Thompson of Anniston is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Day, this week.

such were bringing them more money than some of the regular farm crops. They would not have known this if they had not kept a record book. As a result of the knowledge gained from the record book, better farm plans have been developed and will make more money for them this year."

Miss Bishop pointed out that many of the farm wives learned to make money and to spend it wisely. They also learned that much can be done with the money made from sales of eggs, handicraft, and flowers.

"We urge all farm families to keep accurate records because it will help them own a farm quicker and aid them in having a more comfortable living," said Miss Bishop.

Shelby Women Are Named Advisory Service Consultants

Two residents of Shelby County, Mrs. W. C. Eversole, of Vincent, and Miss Jeanette Niven, of Columbiana, are serving as consultants to the Vocational Advisory Service of Alabama College. In each county of the state two alumnae of Alabama College have been selected by Mrs. Otto Zerwick of Gadsden, president of Alabama College Alumnae Association, to work with Miss Rochelle Rodd Gachet, director of the Vocational Advisory Service. These consultants serve as local representatives who secure local information when needed, and who report on ways in which the Vocational Advisory Service could be of service to women in their county.

One of the research projects which the Vocational Advisory Service has under way at the present time is assembling the names of Alabama women who are outstanding in business or professions, and whose experiences would be of interest and help to other women. The consultants in each county are helping to build up this list of names. It is requested that information be sent by anyone who knows of a woman in Shelby County who is engaged in work of an unusual or interesting nature to either of the county consultants, or to Miss Gachet at Alabama College.

Vic Milstead Is In Charge of Towery's Service Department

Over at Towery Motor Company's new place across the bridge, the public will find the front department of the business in charge of Mr. Vic Milstead, who dispenses gasoline and other filling station services, not the least of which is a full measure of courtesy and honest-to-goodness friendliness thrown in with every sale he makes.

You perhaps know without us telling you that it is a pleasure to deal with Vic. He has proven that in the several years that he has been serving the public in Montevallo. He is honest. He is friendly. He is courteous. He is prompt. If you do not know him you have missed one of the town's best exemplars of the virtue of good old-fashioned courtesy.

In his advertisement this week announcing his connection at Towery's, Vic says:

"I take pleasure in announcing to my friends of Montevallo, the faculty of Alabama College, and the surrounding community that I now have personal charge of the front of Towery Motor Co. operating that department of the business on commission."

"I solicit your patronage and will appreciate any business you may be able to give me."

"You have already by your co-operation made possible such business for me as to indicate that my connection affords prospects of a satisfactory volume, and I thank you most sincerely."

"Mr. Maurice Swanzy is assisting me in the operation of my department, and we assure you our most earnest efforts to serve you satisfactorily."

Mr. Walton Kroell of Tuscaloosa was a visitor of relatives and friends here over the week end.

ROTENBERRY-KREUGER

Miss Melba Rotenberry and Irwin C. Kreuger, of Chicago, Ill., were married Monday afternoon in Birmingham. Immediately after the ceremony the couple left for Tennessee and other points of interest.

Mrs. Kreuger is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Rotenberry. She is a graduate of Montevallo High School and Massey Business College, Birmingham.

Wooten Begins Work On New Building

In my interview with Ike Harrison Wednesday morning about the new building that Wooten Motor Co. is erecting, he told me a fancy tale about the structure which, he said, is to be "four stories high, with electric elevator and everything."

When he had finished and I had my notes all put down, the rascal said:

"Now you just take off three of them stories, leave out the elevator part, and see Mr. Wooten and you can get the actual facts about what he is going to build."

It was a good story, Ike, even if it wouldn't do to print.

From Mr. Wooten I learned that he is beginning a new building on the corner adjoining the place formerly occupied by Towery Motor Co. It will be used for his offices, parts and show rooms. The present building will be his repair shop and service department.

Work was started on the new building by Contractor C. S. Norris Wednesday morning. It will be finished in about 5 weeks.

COUNTY DAIRIES PRODUCE GRADE A MILK

The following dairies in Shelby county have produced Grade A raw milk during the past grading period: Alabama College Dairy, Montevallo; Kent's Dairy Farm, Siluria Rt. 1; Fairhaven Farm, Montevallo Rt. 1.

These dairies have been regularly inspected by the Health Department and milk samples examined at frequent intervals.

Ellis Speaks On Chicago Convention

"Some Highlights of the Democratic National Convention," was the subject of an address given by Hon. Handy Ellis, of Columbiana, to the Montevallo Civic Club Wednesday noon.

Mr. Ellis was a delegate to the Chicago convention from the Sixth Alabama District, and served as Alabama's member of the Credentials Committee.

His report of the doings at Chicago was indeed most interesting. It was a masterful retouching of the picture we had already had from the radio and press.

Concluding his "highlights," Mr. Ellis referred to a few other things with this statement: "There were also some 'lowlights' of the convention." This brought a ripple of laughter from his audience.

Mr. Ellis expressed his special pleasure in visiting in Montevallo, and it goes without saying that Montevallo people are always glad to have with us this outstanding lawyer whom we are proud to hail as our Number One statesman and legislator.

Among those who went to Birmingham Tuesday evening to hear Hal Kemp were Jimmy Wyatt, Miss Willie Pearl Seale, J. A. Brown, Miss Theda Wyatt, John Stephens, Miss Nell Wooten, Marshall Burgin, Miss Audrey Johns, Earl McGaughy, Miss Frances Mims, Wiley Fancher, Miss Myra Frost, Miss Louise Lovelady, Bill Lovelady, Maurice Swanzy, and Percy Lee.

Merchants Meet To Organize Association

Promotion of Neighborliness Is Purpose of Group Organized Monday Night

A permanent organization of the Montevallo Merchants Association was formed at a meeting Monday night, with the election of officers as follows:

W. M. Wyatt, president; Stanley White, vice-president; Eddie Mahaffey, secretary; R. E. Whaley, treasurer. The organization was launched with 20 members and a membership committee was named to carry on enlistments until every merchant and business proprietor in the community is enrolled.

The next meeting of the association was set for Monday night, August 19, at Montevallo Cafe. At this meeting a committee will report recommendations for by-laws of the organization.

Montevallo merchants are concerned about what they conceive as an active and unified effort to foster better trade-relations with their neighbors on the farms and in the industrial communities of this section. There are many phases of this subject which will come within the proposed activities of the newly-formed association.

Mr. "Red" Woolley, proprietor of Montevallo Cafe, was host to the group Monday night, "setting-up" the members to a Dutch dinner.

Bailey's Colts Take Major Prizes At Auburn Show

The mule colts entered by Mr. W. J. Bailey, of Montevallo, in the colt show at Auburn Tuesday of this week, came away with about all the prizes and honors that were offered.

His entries included four mule colts between one and two years old; and a mare and colt at side.

In the first group his colts between one and two years old won first, second and third prizes.

His mule colt under one year old won first prize.

He also received the ribbon for exhibiting the grand champion mule colt.

His entry of mare and colt at side was awarded first prize.

The stock exhibited by Mr. Bailey are his own products. "They are Shelby County colts fed on Shelby County feed," he said, "and I want to add that we can grow them here as good as anywhere in the world."

According to Mr. Bailey, Shelby County just about took the whole show at Auburn Tuesday. It is Farm and Home Week down there and many of our local people are attending, including Montevallo's Master Farmer family, the Frank Bakers.

MERCHANTS ORGANIZE

Montevallo business men have done a good thing in the formation of a permanent organization to further the spirit of neighborliness with all people who are in any sense our neighbors. Montevallo people are interested in folks of this section further than the mere business of selling merchandise to them. Pursuance of this interest is the main purpose of the merchants' association which was formed Monday night.

THANKS TO RED WOOLLEY

The genial proprietor of the Montevallo Cafe means more to our town than a mere dispenser of beans, sandwiches, hot dogs, and ice cream. He possesses a community spirit that is a challenge to many others of his his fellows in business. It has been evident for some time that Montevallo merchants were in the spirit to organize and do some real pushing for this community. But they hesitated and lacked something to actually bring them together. "I'll feed you fellows if you will come to my place," said Red. They came, they ate a good dinner, and they organized the Montevallo Merchants Association. Thanks to Red, we had a good time.

MUNICIPAL ELECTION?

"Will Montevallo have an election this year to choose city officials?" This question has been asked The Times by several people. We cannot answer it. Everything is running so smoothly in our town's affairs that no one seems particularly concerned about another election. Such a condition is much more desirable than to have a community seething with turmoil and group set against group. Somebody will tell us when election time comes, and no doubt our citizens will go through the formality without much disturbance.

OUR STREET PAVING

Montevallo's street paving program is proceeding gradually and with full evidence that it will bear out the prediction of the sponsors that it will add much to the good appearance of the town and the convenience of our people. No finished surfacing has been done yet, but many blocks have been made ready. When all of the proposed base construction has been done, it will not take but a few days to finish the whole area with black top. We observe that stakes have been set along the street that runs between the Chamberlin property and the college campus. We did not know this street was included in the paving program, but hope it is.

Mrs. J. B. Varnell of Greenville is the guest of Mrs. F. P. Givhan and Miss Wilma Baugh this week.

IMPROVING ALDRICH ROAD

The road from Montevallo to Aldrich has been appreciably improved by several pieces of work in the last year. Even now there is in progress further steps that will make it better.

New bridges have been built. Grades have been improved, curves have been made more sweeping, banks have been sloped away from the road bed.

Maybe it would not be too far-fetched to hope that this road may be hard surfaced before long. It connects Montevallo with two of the community's most important industries — Montevallo Coal Mining Company and Montevallo Brick and Tile Co.

There is a diversity of interests between people of Aldrich and Montevallo and there should be a good paved highway connecting the two places—only a distance of 3 miles.

Which Is Cheaper?

THIS-- being frequently

or THIS-- with no fatigue, more time for rest or pleasure,
and buoyant good health?

THE human body can stand punishment, but after a while the constant physical wear and tear takes toll, and frequently a healthy person becomes a semi-invalid.

Take the matter of washing clothes in the old-fashioned way, for instance. Any man who ever tried it finds it gets him "down" in a hurry, and he begins thinking at once of how quickly he can get an electric washing machine. The trouble (for many women), is that so few men try it!

Women—no matter how robust—who do their laundry by the old scrub board and washtub method are gradually wearing themselves out, all for less than a nickel a week for electricity. Other savings that result from using an electric washing machine more than offset this small amount.

SOIL BUILDING IN PASTURES IMPORTANT

Soil-building in pasture management is just as important as it is in row cropping, says E. L. Mayton, associate agronomist, Alabama Experiment Station.

Soil fertility, he adds, can be increased and maintained by fertilizing pastures with phosphate and lime. When the pasture legume plants die, they return to the soil the nitrogen taken from the air and stored in them.

He gave an example. "Black medic, fertilized with phosphate and grown on lime soils in the Black Belt, produces a heavy growth. After a while, if present in sufficient quantities, white clover will take the medic's place. Being a winter legume, the clover will die out in the hot summer months, and summer grasses will flourish. Their growth and stimulation will be largely due to the nitrogen given to the soil by the dead white clover."

CAREFUL HANDLING OF COTTON ADVISED

Auburn, Ala.—Experiments show that wet-ginned cotton will lose in value from two to five dollars per bale. Farmers can prevent this loss by a more careful management of cotton picking and pre - ginning treatment, says J. B. Wilson, extension agricultural engineer.

Cotton should not be picked right after a heavy rain, unless it is going to be dried afterward before ginning. Cotton picked in the early morning should be placed on a tarpaulin and dried.

During 1939 approximately 66 gins in Alabama were equipped with driers, but even these have limitations. A drier will not benefit extremely wet cotton.

During 1939, 372,000 bales or about 47 per cent of Alabama's cotton, was taken to the gins damp

One Killed In Explosion At Piper Mines

C. L. McClellan Is Victim Of Gas Explosion Caused By Lighting A Cigarette

An explosion in the Little Cahaba Coal Company mine No. 2 at Piper brought instant death to C. L. McClellan, 40-year-old miner, early Monday.

E. J. McCrossin, Birmingham, chief mine inspector for the state, said circumstantial evidence showed McClellan was smoking and "that the cigaret or match ignited a small accumulation of gas in the room in which he was working."

McClellan was one of 82 men who went down into the mine to begin work at 7 a.m. He had not begun working when the explosion occurred, McCrossin said.

The mine inspector reported a can of tobacco was found in the breast pocket of McClellan's overalls, and that a can containing burned and unburned matches was spilled near the body. Smoking in the mines is prohibited by company rules, and there is a large "No Smoking Allowed" sign near the mine entrance. Men use electric caps.

McCrossin said there was a small rockfall simultaneous with the explosion. He said that although the "rooms" in which the miners work are only 50 feet apart, other miners reported "they didn't hear anything and barely felt it."

Word of McClellan's accident was communicated to the surface by telephone. He was taken from the mine about two hours later on one of the mining cars, and taken in a Collins ambulance to West Blocton. He was described as being badly burned.

First reports of the accident were that scores of men were trapped. Families of miners quickly gathered at the mine entrance to await word from below.

M. E. Moor, company president, went below with Mine Inspector McCrossin, G. W. Colbert, safety instructor of the U. S. Bureau of Mines, and other officials. The shift on which McClellan worked was called off for the day.

McClellan had been employed by the mine 20 years, his family said. Surviving are his wife and six children, Elizabeth, 16; Willie Dean, 14; Margaret Ann, 11; Frances, 8; Cecil, 2; and Edith Ray, 5 weeks.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Auxiliary Gives Two College Scholarships

Children of World War Veterans May Apply for Scholarships To University and Alabama College

Mrs. M. P. Jeter, second vice-president of the American Legion Auxiliary, Department of Alabama, calls attention to two college scholarships provided by the Auxiliary, and available to descendants of World War veterans in Alabama.

The Minnie B. Waldrop Scholarship is for a student at the University of Alabama, and the American Legion Memorial Scholarship is for a student at Alabama College, Montevallo.

The terms provide at each school named above "a free scholarship of the value of $100 a year in board and such fees or other charges as that amount would cover or include over and above board, for the benefit of the student receiving the benefit of same, or appointed to such scholarship."

Mrs. Jeter outlines the following requirements for applicants for these scholarships:

"Applicants must submit application in own writing, stating qualifications, age, need, etc.; application to be accompanied by statement from principal of school last attended, giving scholarship attainments, general school record, character recommendations, etc.; by complete transcript of high school records; by statement from at least two other persons of high standing in local community as to personality, need, industry, etc., and by physician's certificate of health.

"The scholarships are available to descendants of World War veterans only, and proof of relationship must accompany application, with service record of veteran attached. (Applicants need not be orphans.)

A BIG "PUFF"

Shelby County received a big puff in the Southern Radio News, of Birmingham, in its issue of August 17.

Business, industry, farming, dairying, education, all were elaborately portrayed in surveys, stories, interviews, and advertisements.

The Shelby County Board of Revenue and the Town Councils of Montevallo and Columbiana each had large display advertisements in the paper describing the manifold advantages of Shelby County and the communities.

Interviews were printed from such outstanding citizens as W. L. Brown, chairman of the Board of Revenue; Dr. A. F. Harman, president of Alabama College; L. E. Shaw, president of Montevallo Brick and Tile Co.; L. H. Ellis, our number one lawyer and legislator; J. A. Brown, prominent business man and member of the Montevallo Town Council; Mildred White Wallace, "the Dixie Bluebird," publisher of the Shelby County Democrat; C. D. Cowart, member of the Town Council of Calera; Dr. C. T. Acker, mayor of Montevallo.

The Frank Bakers, master farmer family of Shelby County, were featured in a large picture in the paper.

Altogether, it was a fine "puff" for Shelby County, even after we discount a number of errors in the text, such as mixing up the descriptions and locations of several of our communities and places of interest. No doubt the reporter, upon visiting our county, was so overwhelmed with the vastness of our opportunities and the splendid civic spirit of our people that he somewhat lost his sense of direction and inadvertently placed some of the names in places where others should have been.

All in all, it is distinctly worthwhile for the world to know about Shelby County the many good things that are told in this Shelby County issue of The Southern Radio News.

"HIP-HIP-HOORAY!"

Localities have been known to suffer mass invasion by grasshoppers, army worms, gnats, locusts, and other pests.

The latest thing in this line to appear in Montevallo is occasional swarms of Negro boys and girls riding bicycles.

They seem to give much more attention to vociferous expressions of their fun than they do to the possibility of traffic hazards to themselves and others who may be upon the streets as they sweep through town in mass formation.

A RISING LIVING STANDARD

Nearly 21 million telephones are now in use in the United States. This number represents an all-time peak for this or any other country.

A recent survey of a large group of companies showed that yearly taxes equalled $283 for each common stockholder and $576 for each jobholder.

Industrial research can now make sponges, superior to those in nature, out of wood and cotton.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ashley of Bessemer were the Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Russell.

What Is The American Way?

Everybody is inclined to consider that his own opinions and prejudices about customs and institutions, principles and practices, represent the "American Way." The term is used to justify the most contradictory ideas. Nevertheless there are some principles and practices that are distinctively American and that are believed in by most Americans; especially a fundamental conception of freedom which is a part of our heritage.

We have built up our civilization here, and drawn our social pattern, on a basis of individual freedom. It includes freedom of worship, of speech and press and assembly, of residence and movement; liberty to pursue an occupation of one's own choice, to acquire and own property, and to enter into voluntary association with others in enterprise; and the right to participate in government through representatives whose arbitrary power is restricted by basic and statutory law and who are periodically accountable to the people. These rights do not constitute the whole range of American freedom, but are among the most fundamental.

It is true that these are not regarded as absolute rights. We impose limits by custom and by public authority. But we try to adhere to the pattern and we recur to it whenever it is temporarily disregarded. The conviction persists that this individual freedom must be maintained—limited only in order to preserve the maximum of it for all. For in the freest possible exercise of individual initiative and energy we see the mainspring of our past achievement and the guaranty of a greater future—the fulfillment of the promises of American life.

There is no other plan of human relations we know of that has produced or is producing a like result. Certainly the totalitarian systems now spreading over Europe—and not without their advances here—bear no fruit that we crave. We believe in hard work—but in occupations of our own choice; in discipline—but in self-discipline; in individual duties and group duties—but not imposed by arbitrary power; in cooperation—but of a free people.

Free institutions, however, affording the maximum of individual opportunity are not an accident of nature, like the climate—nor do they persist like the sun, moon, and stars for whose existence and movements and continuance we feel no responsibility. Generations of vigorous, industrious, and adventurous people have established these institutions. Only people of the same sort can safeguard and maintain them. A corollary of individual freedom is individual responsibility; each generation must earn again, by hard work, devotion to duty, loyal cooperation, productive achievement, its right to be free.

Through all the changed conditions that our increasing mastery of nature creates, through all the adjustments and readjustments of human relations that such changes require, we are insistent on maintaining our heritage of freedom. Essentially, this ideal, interpreted in practice as well as our social experience and social intelligence permit, is the American way.—(Contributed)

Fifty million bushels of wheat end up in the form of bread each year in toasters, and 950 million pounds of butter are spread on the toast thus made.

A TRUE STORY

He was foreign born and old. Eighty his last birthday with great grandchildren to help celebrate the occasion. Wide-awake, little Americans who teased him sometimes about coming from a country where they boss people around and believe that machine guns are more important than automobiles.

But he loved America more than they did. Naturally. He knew what Americanism really means. Besides, he had sacrificed for this adopted country of his and sacrifice breeds love.

As the clouds gathered and it became clear that America must prepare for any eventuality he was troubled. He wanted to play a part this time as he had 23 years before when the country had prepared for that other war. But he was younger then, at work in a factory that stopped making typewriters to turn out shell cases for 75 MM guns and he had sons. Three of them went overseas with the American army and only one came back.

Now everything was different. He had been retired 10 years before and nobody thought he could do anything this time. Besides, there was the question of his nationality.

Then came the call for skilled workmen. Men who had the training and experience that enabled them to handle machine tools with the precision necessary to turn out the fine parts of an airplane. Hope stirred in the old heart.

He started out from his daughter's house one early morning to apply for a job. But would they take him? Or would they say he was too old? People said old men weren't wanted any more. And would they question his devotion to the United States because he had been born in a village in Europe eighty years before?

He needn't have worried. He got the job. American industry today is looking for skill and hiring it. The age of a workman isn't so important if he can do the job and hundreds of men who had retired are going back to work. Industry also recognizes the fact that today devotion to the American way of life is not a matter of nationality but of the individual's own love of freedom!

Millions Suffering the Agony and Torment of Run-Down, Weak, Ailing Bodies Keep It to Themselves.

Infinite numbers of people go on for years suffering the misery, torture and anguish which usually accompany run-down bodies because of sluggish digestion, incomplete elimination, iron-poor blood and jumpy nerves due to lack of Vitamin B-1, for they know a sure way to lose friends is to continually talk about their sickness. Therefore, they go through life in a morbid, depressed condition which sometimes leads to organic troubles requiring drastic treatment by physician or surgeon.

If these conditions are not due to organic troubles, the new and improved SARGON makes you eat with a keen, hearty appetite, aids in proper digestion and assimilation of foods, helps build up the red corpuscles in the blood, thus builds up bodily vigor and you enjoy a new kind of well-being and again may rejoice in restful, refreshing sleep.

Dixon Sets Aside Traffic Safety Week

Montgomery, Ala.—Setting aside, by formal proclamation, the week of August 26-31, inclusive, as Traffic Safety Week throughout Alabama, Governor Frank M. Dixon urges all Alabamians to appropriately observe that period by carefully following the rules of conduct in walking and motoring that assure a maximum of safety in the use of public streets and highways.

The Chief Executive especially stresses the importance of parents impressing the rules of safety upon their children, and employers emphasizing to their employees the vital importance of these rules.

Observance of Traffic Safety Week is to be on a state-wide basis with all interested agencies, organizations and individuals participating in its promotion and the fulfillment of its objectives. All the forces of the State Highway Patrol are already under orders to cooperate in every possible way.

Complete text of Governor Dixon's proclamation follows:

"Whereas, the mounting casualties resulting from traffic accidents involving both motorists and pedestrians are reaching such proportions and costing such an annual toll of life and health in the State of Alabama and in the United States of America that it behooves all users of our streets and highways to exercise the utmost care and thought in the use of same; and

"Whereas, the matter of safety is now one of the most serious problems with which all citizens of Alabama have to cope; and

"Whereas, the only true safety in traffic, whether it be on city streets or state highways, can be achieved by proper respect for not only regulations designed to protect motorists and pedestrians but by common sense application of inherent rules of conduct; and

"Whereas, the continued direction of the public's attention to the prevention of death and serious injury of carelessness and imprudent use of our streets and highways is most necessary, if we are to make them truly safe for the users thereof;

"Now, therefore, I, Frank M. Dixon, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby proclaim the week of August 26-31, 1940, inclusive, as Traffic Safety Week in Alabama and urge all our citizens to follow with care those rules of conduct in walking and motoring which make for the utmost safety of all users thereof, and I especially urge that the parents of children during this safety week impress upon their children rules of safety, and all employers cooperate in stressing to their employees the value of safety in the use of their streets and highways."

BEYOND the Statue of Liberty, to the West, lies a nation of free people . . . people who still make their own laws in the interest of equal rights for all. In Alabama there are a scattered few beer retailers who refuse to obey the State's Alcoholic Beverage Control law . . . a law prescribing the equal rights and privileges for those engaged in selling beer at retail. Recognizing the existence of these few law-violators, the beer industry of Alabama is engaged in a self-regulation program of cooperation with law enforcement officials, seeking the elimination of the undesirable element which refuses to subscribe to "equal rights for all." Vigorously supported by the ABC Board, the public, and the press, which calls our program "good American business," this campaign is bringing quick results in the "cleaning up or closing up" of law-violating retail outlets.

Special Scout Program To Be Given Friday

Awarding of Eagle Scout Badge To Donald Vaughan Is One Feature of Program

A Boy Scout program of more than ordinary interest will be presented at the Montevallo High School Friday night at 7:30, sponsored by the Shelby County District of the Black Warrior Council.

This program is inspired by the attainment of Donald Vaughan in reaching the rank of Eagle Scout, the highest that may be attained by a Boy Scout. Along with the official award to be made, there will be a number of features on the program designed to emphasize the many virtues that are in the Boy Scout movement.

Mr. J. L. Appleton, commissioner of the Shelby County District, will preside. Every citizen of this community is invited and urged to attend. The Girl Scouts of Montevallo will be present in a body, together with their officers and leaders.

Award of the Eagle Scout badge to Donald Vaughan will be made by an official of the Black Warrior Council.

Dean T. H. Napier, of Alabama College, will speak as representative of the Montevallo Civic Club, sponsors of the Boy Scout movement in Montevallo.

Scout Executive John Coats of Tuscaloosa will speak as representative of the Black Warrior Council.

A short tableau will be presented by Boy Scouts, portraying the successive steps that are taken by a Scout in his course of advancement from beginning as a tenderfoot.

This program is of unusual significance, since it marks the first occasion in which a Boy Scout in Shelby County has attained the highest rank of Eagle Scout.

Merchants Hold Second Meeting

The second meeting of the Montevallo Merchants Association was held Monday night. Twenty-four merchants and business men attended. Several were present who had not attended the previous organization meeting. When five of these expressed their desire to affiliate, the membership of the association was thereby increased to 27.

It was decided that the regular meetings of the association will be held on the second Monday night in each month. The next meeting will be held on the second Monday night in September. A committee composed of P. C. Wilson, Sam Klotzman and Stanley White was named to arrange for a permanent meeting place.

After discussing several propositions in which the merchants are interested, committees were named to study those questions and make future reports and recommendations.

High School Fees Are Reduced By Board Of Education

At a special meeting of the Shelby County Board of Education on Friday, August 23, the board passed a resolution reducing the matriculation fees in high schools to $8.00 per year for the senior high school grades and $4.00 per year for the junior high grades. One-half of the matriculation fee is to be paid when the pupil is enrolled and the balance will be due at the beginning of the second semester. Parents who are unable to make the payments when due should arrange with the principal of the school for deferring payment so that the pupil may complete enrollment.

Special fees of $1.00 per semester for pupils taking senior high school science courses and twenty-five cents per semester for pupils taking junior high school science courses are to be paid when enrolling in the courses.

Both the matriculation and the special fees are authorized by law. They are to be used for the purchase of supplies, equipment, fuel, lights, water, and the furnishing of janitor service. Our high schools cannot function efficiently without these fees.—J. L. Appleton, Superintendent of Education.

Four Newcomers To Join Faculty On September 2 For 1940-41; New Buildings Ready

With the opening of dormitories and the first faculty meeting of the year Monday, September 2, Alabama College will begin its forty-fifth annual session. Registration of freshmen will occupy college authorities Tuesday, September 3, and upperclassmen will begin registering at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday. Opening classes for the first semester start at 8 a.m. Friday.

Preliminary figures from the registrar's office show a heavy registration from every section of the state.

In faculty ranks returning students will find four newcomers in the persons of Dr. John B. Knox, new associate professor of sociology; Miss Loretta Skelly, of the speech department; John Walker, new technical director of the College Theatre; and Joseph Marino, Birmingham artist, who will be instructor of art. Dr. Knox succeeds Dr. I. T. Sanders who has accepted a position with the University of Kentucky; Miss Skelly succeeds Miss Margaret Flory; Mr. Walker replaces Jack W. Warfield, who will teach at the University of Arkansas; and Mr. Marino will serve in the place of Miss Margaret Cunningham, to whom the college has granted a year's leave of absence.

This marks the first full year in which the college will occupy the new and remodeled buildings made possible by the extensive building program of the past two years. Included in the expanded plant are Comer Hall, classroom, faculty office, and radio building; Tutwiler Hall, new senior dormitory, and the College Union Building, Reynolds Hall, center of student activities and publications, additions which became available last spring.

McGraw Represents Farm Loan Group

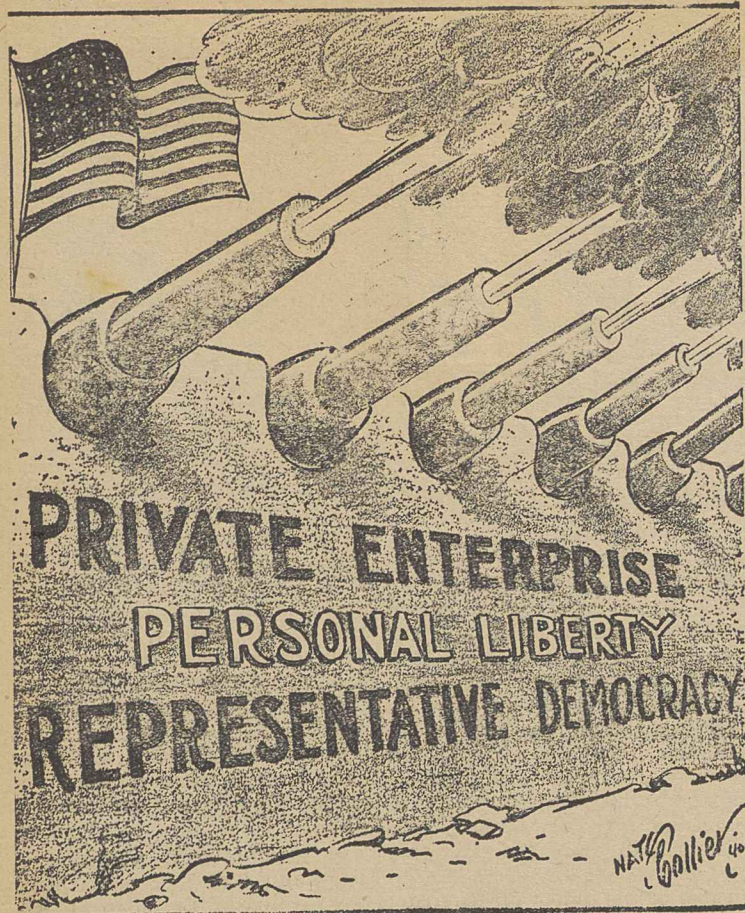

New Orleans, La.—Directors and members of national farm loan associations in Alabama were represented by J. F. McGraw, president of the Mount Olive National Farm Loan Association, Vincent, at a joint meeting of the Directors' Committee, of which Mr. McGraw is a member, and the District Farm Credit Board. The meeting was held in the Farm Credit Administration headquarters at New Orleans.

The Committee of Directors, which consists of seven members, was formed a year ago at a meeting of all national farm loan association directors from the states of Louisiana, Mississippi, and Alabama. The personnel of the committee is strategically distributed over the three states so that each member can keep in touch with developments and conditions in a designated area. The purpose of the committee is to meet periodically with the Board of Directors, as in the case of the two-day meeting August 21 and 22, and discuss problems pertinent to the operation of the business of the federal land bank and the national farm loan associations. The committee members will report the results in their territory early next month when representatives of local national farm loan association boards hold their annual conference.

THE RAMPARTS WE WATCH

We Must Take The Medicine

It is hoped that the United States Congress will get the conscription bill adopted in time to save the country. It should be clearly apparent that there is no other way to get an army now.

Long ago we should have had a system of universal military training for the youth of our country, and on top of that a conscription plan that would call as many of the trained men into the service as any necessity might demand at any time. Under such a plan we would have had our required army many months ago.

Our national security demands that we be ready and equipped to fight any time in the future at the drop of a hat. And we shall not have time to debate about conscription and quibble over training and equipment after the hat is dropped.

We used to think the world could hope for a permanent peace. We scrapped armaments at a time when we should have been training men and building defense machines. We simply made the common error of taking the wrong end of the road.

Now it looks like permanent turmoil and conflict. We must build armaments and train fighters and keep ourselves ever alert and ready. It is a sickening picture of the future.

Reapportionment Again

The new census figures have given some of the industrial counties of Alabama new ammunition with which to demand apportionment of the legislature. It is an old story in this state, and there is really something pathetic about the way Jefferson County resents the representation of the Black Belt counties, and then whenever legislation of radical nature is proposed by some of the representatives of that county, its industrial leaders rush to the more conservative Black Belt representatives for help.

There is one point that those calling for larger representation overlook. Here, for example, is a notation from a lengthy editorial in The Birmingham News: "The effect of the situation is to give a voter in Lowndes County at least five times as much influence in the state legislature as a voter in Etowah County."

New York State has five times as many people as Alabama. It would therefore be just as fair to say that an Alabama voter has five times as much influence in the United States Senate as has a New York voter because Alabama has as many senators as New York.

There are other factors than population to be considered in apportioning representation, and the Constitution makers recognized them. Because a state is small is no reason to put it in a helpless position of minority. Because some of Alabama's farm counties are small it would be the height of injustice to give the rich and populous and powerful industrial counties complete control over them.

As a matter of fact, thoughtful men of the big counties do not want any such dominance. Often the industrial population is a shifting, changing, restless population. It does not represent the solid, permanent, sturdy life of the state. That mere numbers should be used to permit this kind of population to run rough shod over less populous rural areas where the real might and strength and bone and sinew of the state have their being would be the worst kind of shortsightedness.

One of the wisest things the makers of both federal and state constitutions did was to afford minorities adequate protection from the tyranny of majorities. Alabama ought not to embark on some new policy that would deprive some of our numerical minorities of that protection.—The Alabama Journal.

When a man gets things lined up like Senator Hiram Johnson has it in California, it appears that his people must regard him as more than a mere politician—a statesman, we would say. He has won his nomination for a sixth term in the United States Senate as a candidate of the Republican, Democratic and Progressive parties. And, too, it is significant that his campaign was pitched upon the issue of keeping this country out of war.

Between the August heat in Washington and the terrors of an election in November members of our honorable congress are going through quite an ordeal.—Montgomery Advertiser.

The Man On the Corner

—Some of the things he saw and some he saw not.

Our Farmer Trade

The question of farmers trading in Montevallo is one that always interests merchants and business people here. It is one of those town or community problems, the answer to which is somewhat elusive. The fact is there are not nearly as many farmers trading here as there should be—and there is a reason—perhaps more than one reason.

Money Is One Object

Farmers want a place to trade where they can get some money sometimes as well as spend money. The smart farmer knows that business is a two-way proposition. He knows that while he spends money, he also must collect some now and then. He knows that he must sell some things for money as well as buy other things for money. What does Montevallo offer our farmers, other than a place where they may come to spend their money? We should have a business set-up here where farmers may sell for cash anything they have to dispose of in the way of staple farm products.

We May Find The Answer

The merchants of Montevallo are preparing to tackle the question of farmer trade with determined and systematic effort to do something about it. This will be one of the first objectives of the Montevallo Merchants Association which has been made into a permanent organization with regular meetings once a month.

Hicks At Shady Grove

Cap'n Leon Hicks returned last week from his summer work at college. He stopped in Montevallo for a while to gas up and proceed to his home at Shady Grove in Pike County to spend a while before school starts. While he is down in the old country he will, no doubt, take some post graduate courses in tobacco chewing, checker playing, at the cross-roads store.

Thirteenth Anniversary

Joe and Sam Klotzman are observing the thirteenth anniversary of their store in Montevallo this week with a sales event which is calculated to bring many, if not all, their customers of the past to their store once more. Joe and Sam have sold lots of goods to lots of folks in the time they have been here. Theirs is recognized as one of the strong business concerns of our section. It is strong because it is built on solid principles of good business conduct. It has grown stronger as time went by and the call for strength came to meet trying times. Congratulations on your birthday.

Bessemer Invites Us

An invitation has come to members of the American Legion and Auxiliary in Montevallo to attend a public joint installation of officers of Worth Lewis Post at Bessemer tonight. Our local members would enjoy such a visit. Henry Pendleton, brother of our P. D. D., is a member of the Bessemer Post. So is his good wife, Julia, of the Auxiliary. John B. Harris, an old friend in Kiwanis, is adjutant. These and other friends in Bessemer make us feel kinda close kin. If you can go to Bessemer for this meeting tonight, you may be sure of a good time and a hearty welcome.

Hicks' School Sale

Hicks' Ben Franklin Store offers a service that will be gratefully received by many parents who are right now faced with that annual period of puzzlement when it comes time to rig up the younguns for another session of school. Hicks' School Sale answers the question in a nutshell. Get one of their big sale circulars. It pictures, describes, and prices hundreds of school things, all the way from the smallest to the largest items of school clothes. And, of course, you are concerned about the cost of preparing for school. Well, in that respect you will be still more pleased with the prices of things at the Ben Franklin Store.

Destiny... for America...

Reading history... hearing the stories handed down to your own family... listening on the radio to episodes from our past... have you ever wondered why we built this country so fast?

Only a little more than a century and a half since we became a nation! Only 300 years since all there was of it were those few, precarious settlements on the Atlantic seaboard!

And now? We are the greatest nation in the world with power to lead that world, if we choose!

Have you ever felt that back of the urge which brought people to this country was something more than personal ambition? A great plan—perhaps—that caught them up in its unfolding so that they were eager to cross the ocean when it was six weeks wide, and dangerous; so that they were determined to go West, generation after generation until there were no more frontiers? Have you ever wondered why women as well as men, were possessed with such a love for land of their own that nothing mattered but gratifying it? Not drudgery, not danger, not loneliness.

Have you ever wondered why even the climate of this new world is for the most part more stimulating than that of the old so that men are necessarily active and intolerant of idleness? Have you ever thought that we are set apart between two great oceans or wonder why we have been so inventive and skillful with machinery?

Today, as the old world seems to be destroying itself, the need for a strong, new world, equipped by Nature and her own self-elected people for complete self sufficiency is apparent.

The great role, for which we as a nation have been unconsciously preparing through all of the swift, full years of our history, is not revealed. The part calls for colossal strength, great wisdom, tolerance and hard, persistent work if we are to play it well and realize the destiny which our great past has made possible.

We have the necessary resources. We have the propitious geographical setting, the economic genius, and the material development. Those who have gone before us have played their part well... but have we the Will, the Unity and the Vision to play this part as it must be played if the world is to go forward in its own development?

Each one of us alive in America today is helping to give the momentous answer!

IT'S TRUE!

By Wiley Padan

NEW YORK, N. Y.—"IT'S TRUE! that one of Myrna Loy's hobbies is her wildflower garden," says Wiley Padan. "Some time ago she obtained seeds of almost every variety of wildflower, planted them on a five-acre plot of ground beside her home. Many visitors marvelled at the colorful blossoms, particularly at the short-lived desert flowers . . . That small launch riding out off Malibu Beach was piloted by Miss Loy. She took a yearning for the open sea, chartered the boat and went out alone. Her day's catch was fourteen small calico bass! . . . Remember the great picture 'Ben Hur'? Myrna Loy thought her

Wickard Will Continue Farm Policy Of Secretary Wallace

Alabama Leads In Mattress Making

Alabama farm men and women continue to lead all other states in mattress making. Latest reports show that to date 127,307 mattresses have been made in Alabama. The next highest state is Arkansas with about 70,000, Mississippi next with 45,000, and Texas fourth with 40,000.

Throughout the country a total of 1,158,870 farm families have been selected by county agricultural conservation committeemen as eligible to receive enough surplus cotton to make a mattress for home use. Nearly 306,000 families already have completed their mattresses and have ordered a total of 106,055 bales of cotton for use in mattress making.

In Alabama 216,306 farm families have made application for mattresses and 210,140 have been certified. Present indications are that cotton will soon be available for making all of these mattresses.

The Commodity Credit Corporation loans on 1940 cotton crops will be available to producers cooperating with the AAA program. This year's loan, based on 15/16 inch middling, at 8.51 cents per pound, 56 per cent of the parity price of cotton on June 15, carries a schedule of location, grade and staple differentials.

Mr. Lee Wilson of Montgomery spent the week end with relatives here.

Auburn, Ala. — Claude Wickard, newly appointed Secretary of Agriculture, will follow policies formulated during the term of Secretary Wallace.

Announcement of this was made by Mr. Wickard at the Farm Bureau Southern Training School in Biloxi immediately after he received notice that he had been nominated to succeed Secretary Wallace.

The present farm program of the Department of Agriculture has placed the United States in "a better position than ever before to meet war or peace," he said in announcing that the present policies would be continued.

"We realized years ago that a national farm program was necessary and it is just as necessary today as it was then," he declared.

Mr. Wickard said that he was "not pessimistic" about the future of the United States "because there is more solidarity between all groups—especially in agriculture—than ever before."

"We should see that industry, labor, capital, and agriculture adopt a program for the good of all," he declared, "because national strength is more important than the profit of any group of individuals."

Mr. Wickard is an Indiana farmer who was born and reared on a farm about 60 miles north of Indianapolis. He graduated from Purdue University in 1915.

He entered the Department of Agriculture in 1933, working on the AAA's corn-hog program and became chief of the corn section before his appointment as undersecretary last February.

One Truck Out of Sixteen In State Is Government Owned

One truck out of every 16 operating on the highways of Alabama is owned by the government—federal, state or local—J. B. Turner, vice-chairman of the Alabama Petroleum Industries Committee, said today in commenting upon the increasing importance of highway transportation in carrying out the functions of government.

"The largest commercial user of the highways is the government. For the United States as a whole, approximately one out of every 20 trucks is owned and operated by some branch of the government. The federal government uses the roads and streets extensively in the transportation of the mails, as well as for other purposes. Many trucks are used in carrying out the activities of the various departments and bureaus of the state. The many state institutions, for example, use large numbers of trucks. Similarly, the counties and cities are large users of trucks. Such vehicles are used extensively for road and street maintenance work, garbage disposal and in the operation of hospitals, and the police and fire departments.

"In addition to these publicly-owned vehicles, which generally operate tax-free on the roads and streets, there are many additional privately-owned motor vehicles engaged in carrying on work for the government. Besides the many trucks used by business men in performing work in connection with government contracts, there are 80,000 school buses assisting in the government function of education. These buses, most of which are privately owned, are not included in the truck figures. The United States post office department utilizes 15,045 motor trucks, of which 8,500 are owned by the department and 6,545 are privately owned, operated on a contract basis. In addition, about 30,000 rural mail carriers use privately-owned passenger motor vehicles in the delivery of the mails."

Better Farming Will Reduce Migration

Auburn, Ala. — The best way to treat the problem of rural migration is to remove the causes by making it more profitable and more desirable to stay on farms, P. O. Davis, director of the Alabama Extension Service, told the special congressional committee investigating migration of destitute citizens.

Mr. Davis advocated long time written leases between landlords and tenants and explained that understanding of mutual landlord-tenant problems are being brought about:

1. Through community groups, both landlord and tenant come together to study the latest methods of production and marketing.
2. By method and result demonstrations where practices are observed.
3. Through livestock production, tenants, landlords, and bankers are brought together in mutual interest.
4. Through an educational program directed toward both human and soil conservation — both of which require security of tenure.
5. Through assistance by county agents and specialists in making leases, both written and oral.

"The Extension Service is striving to improve the well-being of the farm families not merely by increasing cash income but likewise by improving their real income through the live-at-home program, through home gardens and orchards, food preservation, feed and forage production and seed saving.

"This live-at-home program is part of a bigger program based upon wise use of all land a farmer has and efficient use of all his labor throughout the year, plus profitable use of money," he said.

BOBBIE BOLIN IS HONORED BY MURRAY FANCHER

Murray Fancher, Jr., entertained with a party Wednesday night, honoring his guest, Bobbie Bolin, of St. Stephens, Ala. Badminton and croquet was enjoyed by the guests. Later in the evening a picnic lunch was served to the following guests: Misses Mayo Baker, Sarah Barr, Tootsie Clayton, Julia Rogan, Sara Henry Reynolds, and Messrs. Fouts Parnell, Billy Thomas, Bobbie Bolin, and Murray Fancher.

Juicy Fruit Roll "Makes" the Meal

WHEN the family tires of berries plain and berries fancy, try a new trick. It's raspberry roll which folds juicy raspberries in a crisp pastry. It's delicious, you'll agree.

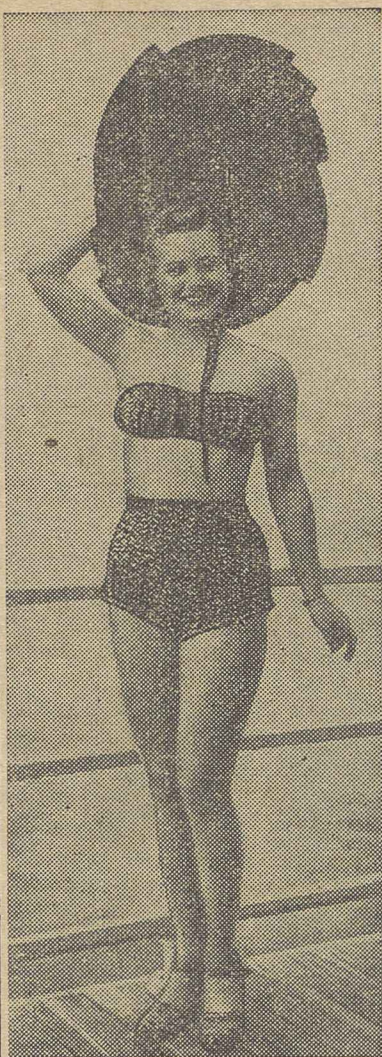

An aid to shorter hours indoors is the new self-rising flour which makes hot biscuits, cakes and desserts in two shakes. The baking powder and salt are ready-mixed into it, thus a double saving of (1) price of these two ingredients, and (2) the time of sifting them with the flour.

Try the new, speed flour in the following summer dessert:

Raspberry Roll.

Make pastry by cutting ½ cup fat into 2½ cups self-rising flour until the mixture is thoroughly blended; adding cold water a little at a time to make a stiff dough. Roll pastry in a rectangular shape, keeping it about ¼ inch thick. Brush lightly with 1 egg white diluted in 2 tablespoons cold water. Spread with 2 cups red raspberries, ½ cup sugar, 2 tablespoons butter, and 1 tablespoon self-rising flour. Roll as for jelly roll. Wet the edges and press together to keep in the juice. Brush top of roll with remaining egg white, prick with a fork, and place in a greased dripping pan. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 30 to 40 minutes. Serve with a hard sauce made by beating ½ cup butter to the consistency of thick cream, sifting in 1½ cups confectioner's sugar slowly, beating until the mass is fluffy, then adding 1 teaspoon flavoring extract.

This Is Traffic Safety Week In Alabama

Montgomery, Ala.—This is Traffic Safety Week in Alabama.

Gov. Frank M. Dixon, proclaiming it so several days ago, said, "I especially urge that the parents of children during this safety week impress upon their children rules of safety, and all employers cooperate in stressing to their employees the value of safety in the use of their streets and highways."

He declared that "mounting casualties... are reaching such proportions and costing such an annual toll of life and health in the state and nation, that it behooves all users of our streets and highways to exercise the utmost care and thought..."

The State Highway Patrol is working to further the purpose of Traffic Safety Week—continued direction of public attention toward public traveling safety, patrol officials said.

Mrs. C. E. Criswell and her sister, Mrs. Tom Horton and children are visiting their mother, Mrs. W. H. Pitts, in Abertant, Ala., this week.

COOK PORK WELL ADVISES BUREAU

Cook pork well for safety, advises the Federal Bureau of Animal Industry.

Until science can discover a strictly reliable method of detecting trichinae that infest pigs, the bureau is sticking to what it knows is a safe course—advising consumers to cook pork thoroughly. As a result of repeated warnings, more and more persons now know that unless pork is cooked thoroughly or processed in a packing plant under inspection—there is danger that trichinae from infested hogs may also infest the pork eater and cause trichinosis, a dangerous, painful, and often fatal disease.

Grant-Of-Aid Is Popular In Alabama

Auburn, Ala. — Alabama farmers have already used the grant-of-aid in obtaining 28,922,700 pounds of lime, 12,928,700 pounds of 20 per cent superphosphate, 3,272,000 of triple superphosphate, 14,526,000 pounds calcium silicate and 11,526,000 pounds of Austrian winter peas, announces A. W. Jones, AAA administrator.

Where Austrian peas, superphosphate and lime are received in carlots with other cooperating farmers, the amount deducted from payment is $4.85 for each 100 pounds of peas, $2.25 in bulk or $3.25 in 100 pound bags for ground limestone, and $14.00 per ton for phosphate. Indications are that Alabama farmers will plant over 15,000,000 pounds of Austrian peas during September and October.

Counties ordering most Austrian peas are: Talladega, Pike, Macon, Hale, Butler, Russell, Pickens, Sumter, Tuscaloosa, Cullman, Coffee, Macon, Marshall, Greene, Etowah, Bullock, Marengo, Conecuh, Crenshaw, Barbour and St. Clair.

Counties obtaining the most 20 per cent superphosphate are: Lowndes, Bullock, Marengo, Hale, Coffee, Clarke, Fayette, Perry, Macon, Choctaw, Madison, Marion, Elmore, Limestone, Autauga and Greene.

Counties using most triple superphosphate are: Marengo, Hale, Lauderdale, Franklin, Macon, Sumter, Madison, Bullock, and Monroe.

Counties purchasing the most of lime are: Coffee, Macon, Autauga, Russell, Houston, Crenshaw, Monroe, Lauderdale and Cherokee.

Those using the most of the calcium silicate are: Lauderdale, Madison, and Colbert.

State Home Clubs Membership Is Increased to 39,394

New members, 11,169 of them last year, increased the home demonstration club enrollment in Alabama to 39,394 members.

Reporting on the activities of these club members during the past year, Mrs. C. T. Butler, outgoing president described the mattress making program an outstanding success. Exactly 216,306 applications were received and 210,190 farm families were certified to receive mattresses. To date 116,894 mattresses have been made.

"Over 33,600 farm people in Alabama cooperated in the educational movement of Better Homes in America this year.

"Our live-at-home objective was an outstanding achievement. It became part of our national defense, and almost all of those concerned did their part to illustrate how to more independently sustain themselves on their own farm, by making clothing, by canning food, and by making their land more economically productive of that which upholds life.

"They planted better seed, tended their crops better, grew more food, and harvested their crops more efficiently than ever before. The farmer's wife did her part equally well in providing her family more attractive clothing, better food, and many comforts of life.

"Let us keep in mind that the keystone of American civilization is the home, and so we must never slacken our interest towards a higher standard of living for rural America."

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Mahan and son, Mikey, visited relatives in Birmingham Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Frost were in Birmingham from Thursday to Sunday where Mr. Frost underwent a tonsil operation.

Farm Bureau membership in the Southern States has reached almost 100,000 with Alabama and Mississippi leading. Alabama has a total membership of 22,883 and Mississippi 32,375.

Milch Cows Need Rest Period

Auburn—Cows allowed to have a dry period of at least six weeks before calving will produce a higher yearly average amount of milk.

This is reported by F. W. Burns, dairyman of the Alabama Extension Service, who advises that "cows in poor condition be given around two months to rest prior to calving".

"This rest interval will give them an opportunity to restore their physical condition preparatory to calving and, at the same time, to be in good condition for high milk production," he says.

"During the peak of lactation, high-producing cows frequently secrete in their milk considerable more nutrients than they can assimilate from feed they are able to eat," Burns said. "Thus, if they have stored a reasonable supply of fat and other nutrients in their bodies before freshening, they will be able to maintain a materially higher level of production during the time they are milked."

"Unless the dry cows are being pastured on excellent growth, they should be fed some grain. A suitable mixture is equal parts by weight of ground ear corn, oats, and wheat bran."

He advised that cows should weigh 150 pounds more at freshening time than they do at lactation periods.

Farmers Urged To Harvest Cotton Dry

Auburn —Alabama farmers can save $1,000,000 by picking and having their cotton ginned dry, reports J. B. Wilson, extension agricultural engineer.

"Records reveal that last year 47 percent of Alabama's 781,539 bales of cotton were ginned wet at a total loss of $1,000,000, he says. Much of this loss was caused by picking cotton to early in the morning, too soon after a rain, or too green.

"There are two ways to overcome this loss. The first is for farmers to pick their cotton when dry or else dry it before carrying it to gin. The second is for the ginners to dry it after it reaches the gin. Sixty-six gins in the state are equipped with driers.

Record Crop Of Oats Predicted

Auburn—reports from every Alabama county indicate that Alabama farmers are planning to plant the largest oat crop this year in the history of the state.

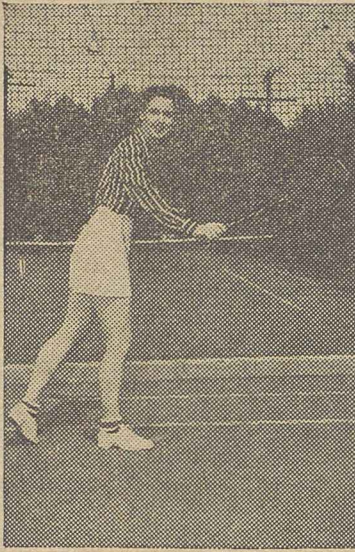

After visiting several counties in all parts of the state, J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist, is optimistic over the prospects for a bumper oat crop to be planted in September and early October.

Many farmers now feel that oats are a better crop than corn because they are easily produced, they protect the land during the winter, and they make excellent feed. If an oat crop fails, which is rare, the land is available for another crop the same year, which is not true of corn.

Completion Of School Buildings

Montgomery, Ala. — President George W. Hulme, of the Alabama Education Association, stated today that the past four years have witnessed the successful completion of one of the largest school building programs ever undertaken in Alabama. Mr. Hulme based his statement on the August issue of The Education Bulletin, published by the Alabama Education Association. This building program was carried out by the State Department of Education in cooperation with the PWA, the WPA, the NYA, and the FSA.

Through these agencies $8,000,000 was secured during the past four years. This was used to match an equal amount of local-school-board funds, secured from the Minimum Capital Outlay funds and by the issuance of school warrants or bonds. An additional annual saving of $30,000 in architectural and inspectional services alone has resulted from building services offered by the State Department of Education, which not only furnishes plans, blue prints, and specifications for many of the smaller buildings, but works in close harmony with private architects and reviews all plans before final submission. In the past three years plans for 250 projects have been furnished to fifty-two counties.

Through survey services the department aids in the selection of school sites. Thus the location of buildings at points where costs for foundations and landscaping would prove excessive or at points not in harmony with the location of pupils is avoided.

A Handbook of the School Building Program for use of school boards and superintendents has been issued by the department. This handbook includes a synopsis of the laws governing contracts, minimum requirements, standards, and contractor-bonds, in addition to suggestions from the State Department of Health for improving new school buildings.

Many problems face the architect in planning adequate school buildings. The limited funds available and the changing school curriculum offer especial difficulties. These have been met to some extent by planning buildings that are easily added to and in which partitions can be moved with little expense to change the size or number of rooms.

The State Department of Education through its survey, architectural, and inspectional program, conducts a continual study of school building problems. This study and the services furnished by the department has directly and indirectly operated to save the taxpayers' money and secure better school buildings.
